$41 TAX RATE

Wilmington's Tax Rate for 1969 is $41.00 per thousand of valuation. The rate was set on Monday by Principal Assessor Anthony Krzeminski after his return from a conference with the officials of the state Department of Corporations and Taxation.

The rate is a $6 increase over that of a year ago. 56% of the tax ($22.63) is for schools, and 44% ($18.37) is for General Government. The total real estate valuation of the town had increased by $7,875,950, bringing the total valuation to $111,849,550. In the increase, Assessor Krzeminski reports, over $5,500,000 is for new Industry.

Sales Tax Receipts and Estimated Receipts are down, accounting for a healthy chunk of the increase. A year ago the estimated receipts were $1,075,319.28. This year they are $996,087.63.

Sales tax receipts for 1968 were set at $510,975.48. For this year the figure is $473,459.65.

Included in the bills to be paid with this year's tax receipts are $49,293.11 for legal settlements, mostly for costs of new well fields, and an over draft on the 1967 snow and ice account of $7,443.48.

The Town Meeting appropriated $523,031.89, and the total appropriation for 1969 is $6,021,972.71.

$25,000

Crab Meat Hi-Jack

The FBI, Medford and Wilmington Police are looking for a man who is described as 35 to 40 years old, weighing about 135 pounds, and short, with dark hair.

He may provide the answer to the question of Who stole $25,000 of canned crab meat, from a truck belonging to the Schuster Express of Medford.

The truck, a tractor - trailer, was noticed, behind Lucci's old store on Lowell Street last Saturday by an employee of Schuster's who had been to Benson Park with the idea of buying a new home.

There were new names on the truck, and on the doors to the cab. They had been put in place using scotch tape to hold them.

But the $25,000 cargo of crab meat, loaded in the truck on Thursday, was gone.

No one knows how long the truck was there. It is not too unusual for trucks to be parked there, awaiting their turn to discharge cargo at one of the stores in the neighborhood, or at some other place.

The truck left the Schuster terminal in Medford last Thursday in charge of a new employee, who had just been hired.

He had proper identification, ICC cards, etc., and Schuster hired him. As is customary, they took a polaroid picture, as they do with all employees.

But no one has seen him since. The truck was driven back to the Schuster garage by Jerry Rogers of Woburn Street, who is a Schuster Garage Foreman.

In addition to the cargo, the tachometer is missing. No one can tell how far the truck was driven, before it was finally abandoned in Wilmington.

wasn't. It had conked out on him, down near the Woburn line.

Front end trouble, and the lights would work only on high beam. Markey had to sit and wait for 25 minutes, until the excitement had died down elsewhere, before some one could go and rescue him.

Officer Markey Sat

For 25 Minutes

It was a night of action for the Wilmington Police, late Tuesday evening. The cruisers were on the go - among other things after a boy who, the police say, kicked in the front door of the Grant store in the Plaza.

But officer Leo Markey had no part in it.

He was on duty, but his cruiser

Dr. Ryoo Ordained

THE REV. DR. RYOO: Receives the congratulations of the Rev. H. Allen Tadgell, Pastor of the Congregational Church.

Dr. Shi Wook Ryoo, (Paul S.), a native of Korea, and a member of the Wilmington Congregational Church (United Church of Christ) was ordained into the Christian Ministry Sunday morning, in the Wilmington Church.

This is believed to have been the first ordination to take place in the Congregational Church, in its 235 year history.

Dr. Shi Wook Ryoo was born and raised in Korea, and was educated at the Hankuk Theological Seminary, where he received a B.D. in 1957, and a Th. M. in 1959 from the Graduate School.

He went to Toronto, Canada, in 1961, on a grand from the United Church of Canada, where he earned a degree of M. Th. in 1964.

He then went to the Boston University School of Theology. During the year 1967 - 1968 he served as assistant to the Pastor, and Youth Director for the Congregational Church of Wilmington.

He received his Doctor of Theology degree from Boston University in May 1969.

Dr. Ryoo is married, and he and his wife Sung Ae have two children, David and Nancy. They are presently living in Dorchester, where Dr. Ryoo is working for the Hayden Inn School.

Dr. Ryoo will preach his first sermon as an ordained minister in the Congregational Church on Sunday, at the Sunday Worship Service.

Where those Avco Chevies Went

Wilmington and Waltham police, working together, have solved the problem of why nice Chevrolet autos were disappearing from the Avco parking lot.

The cars would be stolen, from time to time, from the Avco parking lot, and then turn up later, in an abandoned state, in Waltham.

At the same time Waltham cars were being abandoned in Wilmington and North Woburn.

Four juveniles, according to the police, are the answer - one from Wilmington and three from Woburn. They were well equipped with a set of Master Keys for Chevrolets. Pick up a car in Wilmington, - go to Waltham for a joy ride, and then abandon it, and pick up another for a ride home.

They were always prepared to abandon their car on a moment's notice, and claim they were just four innocent hitch hikers, the police say.

Last Friday Inspector Ballou of the Wilmington police arrested the four youths, in the Plaza, for the theft of a car stolen in Waltham.

And on Saturday, almost by coincidence, the State Police arrested the same four, on Route 93. They were riding in a stolen car at the time.

10 Minutes to Arrest

A Wilmington juvenile is still wondering what happened.

At 11 pm Tuesday night he playfully kicked in the front door of the W T Grant Store, in the Wilmington Plaza. Then he jumped in a car and drove away.

At 11:10 pm, just 10 minutes later, a Wilmington police cruiser, driven by Sgt. Jay Plamer, stopped him, and he was arrested.

The secret is that Officer Robert Shelley happened to be nearby, and off duty. But when he saw the boy kick in the door he called the police station, who radioed both the marked and unmarked cruisers.

Inspector Ballou, in an unmarked cruiser, was very near, and he followed the boy out of the parking lot. He was joined, a few minutes later, by Sgt. Palmer in a marked cruiser, and Palmer made the arrest.

Pat Thibeau will be buried in Wilmington

Captain Patrick Thibeau, U.S. Public Health Service, and formerly the Public Health Officer of Wilmington, is dead. He died in Washington DC Tuesday night, after a long battle with cancer.

Capt. Thibeau was the Public Health Officer of Wilmington for several years, coming to this town

'The Elms' to have New Owners

MOST OF THE ELMS ARE GONE: Which once surrounded the old farmhouse at Glen Road and Harnden Street, but one can still be seen in the background of this picture, taken last May.

THE HOUSE WITH 56 WINDOWS

'The Elms' the old farm-house at the corner of Harnden Street and Glen Road is about to acquire new owners. It is being sold by Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Joyce to Mr. and Mrs. Castas Papaliohis, of Cambridge.

The Joyce family is moving to Reading. They have owned the old farm since 1942.

A lovely old farmhouse, it is much enlarged from its original state, although the original building is practically intact. The building has 56 windows, a chore for any busy housewife to keep clean.

It was probably built by Henry Harnden, and is one of the most imposing homes in Wilmington.

There were two Henry Harndens in Wilmington at about the same time, so that sometimes it is difficult to tell which Henry was which. One emigrated to Wisconsin, and became a General. He was the man who captured Jefferson Davis, at the end of the Civil War.

The other Henry Harnden, the man who probably built the old farm house, was born in Wilmington on Dec. 26, 1808, the grandson of the Colonel Joshua Harnden who built the imposing house at the corner of Salem and Woburn Streets. There is no record of the birth of the other Henry Harnden. The writer has heard from one member of that family that perhaps he was born in Ballardvale, but there is nothing to be found in the Andover records. But there is no doubt that both Henry Harndens grew up in Wilmington.

The Henry Harnden who was the owner of the farmhouse on Glen Road, and for whom Harnden Street was named lived alone in the farmhouse for many years. He did not marry until he was 53 years old, and then his bride was a 16 year old girl, Emma Pearson, a member of the Pearson families of Andover Street.

A part of the farm that he operated included the old mill on Lub-ber's brook, and perhaps was the reason why he bought the farm.

The old mill dates back to before the Revolution, and perhaps to 1720. It was originally built by members of the Thompson family, who lived in the house that is now 2 Main Street. Deacon James Thompson lived there in 1720, and was in church (at Woburn Center) one hour before the minister, every Sunday morning, summer and winter.

The Thompson family mill had a large millpond, which backed up to the present Main Street at Silver Lake. It is to be believed that they also built up Main Street, near Glen Road, to raise the level of Silver Lake, and cut through the ditch that flows from Silver Lake (then called Sandy Pond) to Lubbers Brook.

Henry Harnden bought from the old Thompson farm an extensive area of land. Miller Road, on one side, was the bound, and the other was nearly down to the present location of the Wildcat Railroad.

He operated the old mill all his life, and after he died a man named Pickering bought the farm and sawmill, and operated it until some time in the 1890's.

Henry became the father of one daughter, Jerusha, born in 1862.

About the year 1900 a family named Friend lived at the farm, which was still an ordinary farm house, with barn and carriage shed. When the Friend family died the farm was put up for sale.

It was in 1907 that Christian 'Pop' Neilson bought the farm. He had a 200 acre farm on Chestnut Street (the present Dean Swan home) which included much of what is now the Garden of Eden Country Club.

Pop Neilson, who had three sons and three daughters, paid $2500 for the farm, which had at that time about 14 or 15 acres of land. It was his son Eddie who persuaded Pop to buy the farm. Eddie, among other things, was the part-time janitor of the South School.

Pop was Danish, as was his wife Stina, and both were hard workers. They converted the farm into a summer boarding house, a profitable enterprise.

The street cars, in those days, ran up Main Street between Everett and Lowell, and a goodly number of camps were along Grove Avenue and Lake Street, summer camps.

The people who came to be summer boarders at 'The Elms' as the farm was named, were not 'street car travellers'. They came out to Wilmington in the then current styles of auto.

Instead of a simple Yankee farmhouse, the building soon became a summer hotel. The slanting roof in back was torn off, and a new addition put in place. Part of the old building became a 'third barn' which was called the 'fire-house' because for years the Silver Lake Volunteer Fire Department kept an old fashioned horse drawn pumper there.

A large porch was built around the front of the building, for the summer boarders, and a large dining room, which was, and probably still is the largest in Wilmington, in a private home. 100 people could be served in comfort, and more if one wanted to crowd a little.

Pop and the three sons tended the farm, and Stine and the three daughters took care of the boarders. They cooked, made up beds, and swept and washed - including the 56 windows of the house, which were kept sparkling.

There was always peas for dinner, on the Fourth of July. Quite often those peas were from the garden, but if there weren't enough canned peas were to be had.

As time went on Pop sold land to his brother, and then to a son, and then to a daughter, so that there was a 'Neilsonville' on Glen Road.

'Pop' Neilson, forty and fifty years ago, was a fixture of the Town of Wilmington. At one time he was the longest, in service, of any member of the Police Department (Special Officer, as were nearly all at that time). He exhibited annually at the Grange Fair, as did other farmers, such as Ernest (Buster) Eames, and his hay wagons were a joy to ride, as he took hay home from all parts of town.

Pop allowed the kids to ride on the hay wagons, but he wasn't happy about kids jumping in the hay loft of the barn.

To jump in that hay-loft was an exhilarating experience, off of a platform, down maybe fifteen feet into the soft hay. Pop had to keep his eyes open, to keep the hay soft!

Long before there were speedometers in cars, Pop knew that the distance from Perry's Corner

(now Lucci's) was the same whether he went by Wildwood Street and Glen Road, or by Lowell and Main Streets. He had timed it, with his hay wagons, horse drawn of course, many times.

Every Christmas there would be a Danish Christmas Party, on Christmas Eve, with, after a while 50 or 60 descendants and relatives at that party. Those parties kept on for years, but they finally died out, sometime in the early thirties.

Pop made out well. In addition to having a lot of boarders in the summer he sold vegetables to many of the campers along Grove Avenue and the other streets in town. On Sunday mornings the old barn was a busy place, as everybody went there to buy for Sunday dinner. A mission of the Roman Catholic church was set up nearby, part of the time in the Silver Lake Bettermont Hall, but more in Thompson's Grove, and after Sunday Mass Pop's barn was full, and busy. That mission, incidentally, became St. Dorothy's Church.

Oh yes, - there was a windmill on Pop's farm, too. Not the kind that was to be found in his native Denmark, but the kind that was developed here in the United States especially for the farms of the mid-west. It stood down by a little creek, near the present site of the Glen Road School (which was built on land bought from the farm) and pumped water, every time the wind blew, up to the farmhouse. Long before there was Town Water there was water on tap, in the kitchen of that old farm. (The only other windmill that the writer can recall was that on the Eames farm which is now the Brookside Kindergarten, as far as Wilmington is concerned, but perhaps there were others).

But like all good things, the summer boarding house finally came to an end, just about the beginning of the depression years.

The daughters married, and left. People with autos no longer just went out to Wilmington - they kept on to the White Mountains, and elsewhere. Stine Neilson was getting old, and she retired from the Summer Boarding House business.

After Pop died the old farm was sold. It was in the middle of the depression, and no one wanted to buy. With ten acres of land the home with 56 windows, barn and other buildings were sold for less than $4,000!

The Joyce family acquired the property in 1942, and have owned it up to now. Tom did some farming, while he was still alive, but Neil, as he is known, has had too many other interests.

There hasn't been any farming for several years. The old farm is now being cut up, and perhaps there will never be any farming any more.

DEPENDABLE SERVICE FOR 40 YEARS

Selectmen's Meeting

An old problem, and a new one on streets, were subjects of lively conversation in the Selectmen's Meeting on Monday night.

Gordon T. Francis of Kenwood Avenue, in the Alderwood Estates led a delegation of five residents and presented a petition signed by thirty-four residents of Section II of Alderwood.

Their streets had never been finished. They had been up to the Planning Board several times during the past two years. They had been told that the matter of finishing the street was in the hands of the Town Council. Francis was the spokesman.

Chairman Banda of the Selectmen told the group that he had had a preliminary conference with the Town Council, prior to the meeting, and the Board was unable to assist them until the street was accepted by the town. It has been, and is, he said, under the jurisdiction of the Planning Board and the Planning Board only.

Francis made reference to the fact that they had been referred to the Selectmen, and asked about a bond, supposedly $12,000, which was to guarantee the street construction.

THE PICTURE OF PATIENCE: Gentle mannered Gordon T. Francis tells the Selectmen of the woes of Section 2 of Alderwood Estates, with unfinished roads, and no sidewalks, and winter fast coming on.

The best form of exercise depends upon your age, sex, physical condition, and individual preferences.

It should be something that you enjoy doing, that fits easily into your daily schedule and that is vigorous enough to give you the tonic effect you need.

Activities that would best satisfy these requirements for most persons include tennis, bowling, volleyball, handball, riding, swimming, skating, fishing, boating, and gardening.

If you are not in a position to indulge in such activities, get your exercise by walking or callisthenics. Make it a daily part of your program.

Banda, saying that this was customary, asked the Town Treasurer Mrs. Mary Denault, who is also acting Town Manager, while Morris is doing reserve military duty at Camp Drum, N.Y. Mrs. Denault said she had no bond, no bankbook for Alderwood Estates.

Alvin Dyer, 18 Kenwood Avenue said he had a letter from the Planning Board, referring the group to the Board of Selectmen.

Francis wanted to know if the Board had foreclosed the bond.

Again, the response was that this was entirely the Planning Board's jurisdiction. Francis said, very quietly, that they had been two years trying to get the road and the sidewalks built, and they were no further ahead today than they were two years ago.

Banda told the group that they had the same situation on Dell Drive, Marcia Road, Hathaway Acres, etc., and the continuation of Marie Drive. Francis then asked if there would be court action in September.

Banda was dubious. An insurance company settlement on a bond would take at least 18 months, he believed, and then there might be only a partial settlement.

Francis continued. What would be the 'darkest avenue' projection time? Banda told him that the town could only provide a street after a vote of the Town Meeting. However, he had to find out the 'truth' of the matter. There could be a decision on a course of action at the August 11th meeting, he said.

Francis wanted to know if the residents were entitled to any abate ment on their taxes. Banda couldn't tell them - it was a matter for the Board of assessors - an entirely different board.

The five men, after nearly an hour trooped out of the meeting room and over to the Assessor's office, where they all obtained the forms used to ask for abatement of taxes.

Beacon Street Extension

The new problem for the Selectmen was Beacon Street extension. Four residents, led by Charles Lauziere were quite excited about being cut off.

An out of town builder had built a house on a 6000 square foot lot of land at the corner of Beacon Street extension and Belmont Avenue. The travelled way to their homes went through that lot, and he was threatening to shut them off. They wanted relief - fast!

Brush and trees are in the right of way that is in fact Beacon St extension. The telephone poles, and the water mains, are in the right of way, but as the road is travelled they are far off to the left.

What could the town do? Not much, they were told. It was a private way.

Could the town provide gravel and spread it?

Yes, if the residents would pay for the gravel, the town would spread it from a truck. But the trees and brush would have to be removed first.

Proposed taxi regulations were reviewed. Boylen asked an addition of a license to be issued only from a 'business address'. McDonald asked referral to Police Chief for recommendations to be included. Mrs Drew discussed cleanliness of cabs and rates, suggestion insertion of 'reasonable' before the cleanliness. 'Cars can get dirty from slush and salt in the winter,' she said. The proposed regulations are to be published.

Paul Garfinkel, appeared for Anton's Cab. Banda referred to a letter from him to the Board during the prior week, speaking of the operation of the service from 110 Main Street, and that now there was no violation on the Burt Road site. The letter said that Garfinkel had been in touch with the Chief of Police and made arrangements to park unused cabs behind the Police Station to prevent vandalism during the night. Boylen spoke up and said there were cabs at 21 Burt Road on Friday night with their radios on--2 with plates and two unregistered - not in use. Antonowitch said these were to be repaired and the two that were going were home while the drivers had supper. McDonald said they were on Burt Road at 11:30 pm and not behind the Police Station.

In the end, Mr Garfinkel said that the tower had been removed from Burt Road and that the cabs were no longer parked in the residential area of Burt Road. The license was restored with the warning that they were subject to complaint of the residents concerning operations and the restrictions should be complied with. Should there be any violation, the license is subject to revocation without notice.

Nosey Nancy

Send your announcements to Nancy, Box 208, Wilmington, or call 657-7141, and after five, 658-4865. If I'm not there, then I'll call you!

Hey, did you notice the good job that those DeMolay Boys were with this week with the car washing and feeding the masses...Nice going there, Fellas, it certainly is great to see the youth so working...and another small gal did the honors at the Church Service on Sunday. Carline Riccelli of Shawsheen Ave did a remarkable job with the folk music in the service, and did ok with the hymns on the guitar... That's the way to give away your faith there, Carline...Nice work!

On the not so pleasant side this week, those there kids are ripping up the dugout on the Town Park... about 10 or 12 year old boys... would you believe? Well, knock it off there, kids...It was hard enough to get those things built down there for everyone's use, so don't go and blow the whole thing for everybody else...In fact I would be delighted to see some young fry hammering those shingles back in place when I go by next week...How about you guys? Let's have a 12 year old fix up crew instead of a wrecking crew...Like that?

Your cards should be out again this week for Rodney Buck in the Winchester Hospital with an operation, Mrs Philip Buzzell, who is laid up with a sprained ankle at home, and to Pat Gearty of Lawrence St and Peg Whalen Kydd on Birchwood Road for loss of their loved ones...Now with it, there gals!

Hear that VI and Barney Mc Mahon are brand new grandparents to a small gal...Congratulations there, folks...And we really think there is nothing like the grandparent circuit...We never had half as much fun with our own kids!

Tommy Michaud of 17 School Street called and he is having a Carnival for Muscular Dystrophy on August 1st from one to three in the afternoon...So get with it there, kids and bring your pennies! And then on August 19th Allen Parsons is having one at his home at 24 North Street, with Tony Vleria as ringmaster. This one will be from two to six in the afternoon and will feature games such as tin target, marble shoot, penny pitch, with lawn mower rides... (Hope there's a grownup with that one, or we'll have to alert the ambulance laddies!) So, catch them both...cause there must be an allowance or two in between or at least there's time to round up some chores to earn a buck. Let's go, kids and help these enterprising gentlemen out!

The book and yarn donations are great this week...We're rounding up some boxes now for packing those books...and we must do that before school starts, cause on account of then you can't find the packers...and Gunga Dahlin and Edie Pololan gave us donations for yarn this week...Thanks for everything folks...but we still need more yarn, or money...It's going to be a long cold winter for those kids without a lap robe! Let's go...Send me or Nellie that buck you've been intending to...or just as good if not better...by that skein of yarn, when you drop in to the yarn shops or grant's and let's get crackin'!

The Sermon at the Methodist Church next Sunday, may be in Spanish. Did you know that Willis Miller is going to spread the word in Chile in the fall...and he says that he's going to preach in Spanish and that he's being tutored since he's never had it before...Should be hilarious...Well, that really does take courage, and we certainly admire him for it...Good luck Willis!

Fish is coming in September Les White needs poster painters 658-4519 to volunteer!

Dave Tribou has solved the generation gap...Her's a poem that he wrote while in school in 1950 and see if it doesn't hit for 1970:

"We are the youth of today
Who can come to no good, they say

A generation with no future in sight
It gets so you believe they are right.
Tho' we try with all our might
To do what we believe is right.
Some evil youth will steal the limelight
And then they say, 'See, we were right.'

We pray we may see the day
When people will stop and say
Your generation did more for the world

Than any that came this way!

Doesn't this sound like today...
And it was yesterday too...and will be tomorrow...Because it's this chick's opinion that this is America...and the high hopes of the young people and gap or no it will never change...and let's get the word out about the good these young folk are doing...are you cool cats working with this FISH program...That will be really something you can get your teeth into...Call Les White and ask him!

And...anyways...The optimist looks to the end of the road, while the pessimist trips on the curb!

To the Fellas: The clan's in full swing this week, Chuck's home on leave and then bound for Ft. Lewis in Washington State--permanet party...and are we ever thankful for that one for now...and John Richard Pololan Jr got himself christened last sunday, and we have had a great time with a couple of sons being home...Tis good to see them so well!

The fellas really sent me the word this week, and so I'm going to have to leave some of them out or casually mention what is up...To Ron Wolff...you're letter was out last week, and I appreciated all the work therein and the information...tho don't necessarily agree with your points of view...the Captain said we didn't have the room, so am sending it to Barry Hanson, since he wrote another one to you today, which I am forwarding to you...Wish we had more space...and thanks, there Barry for your response!

Barry Fish is home on leave and he received the purple heart they tell me...How about a visit there, Barry, at ye olde railroad station!

Thanks Barbara Boudreau for

Mrs. William John Bovitz

At a noon Nuptial Mass at St. John's Church in Wellesley Hills on July 5, Miss Donna Ann Jordan daughter of Mr and Mrs Robert C Jordan of Standish Circle became the bride of Lt. William John Bovitz USN son of Mr and Mrs William V Bovitz of Wilmington. The Rev Clifford Blackburn, OMI, of Texas an uncle of the bride officiated at the ceremony after which the couple left the church through an arch of swords. A reception was tendered the couple at the Patrician in Norwood following the ceremony. The bride wore a full length gown of imported white silk organza featuring the bodice and long rounded sleeves of imported Chantilly lace. The gown was designed with a natural waistline accented by a bow, and a full skirt ending in a chapel length train. A matching Chantilly lace cap was attached to a three-tiered cathedral length veil with trimming motifs of the same lace. She carried a white prayer book with three white orchids.

Miss Dale M Jordan, sister of the bride was the maid of honor, wearing a turquoise chiffon gown over taffeta with matching picture hat. Similarly attired in pale yellow, the bridesmaids were Miss Carol Dalley, Miss Janet Rogers, Miss Joan Bovitz and Miss Lynda Butt. Each of the attendants carried a basket of yellow daisies and ivy.

The best man was Lt (jg) Paul Campbell USN. Ushers were Lt Cmdr James Eliertsen USN, Lt (jg) Wendell Harper USN, Lt Thomas Nelbauer USN, and Lt (jg) Raymond DeMark USN. The brides cousin, Carl Jardino from New York, served as ring bearer.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Wellesley High School and a 1967 graduate of Boston College. She attended Northeastern University for her master's degree and has been teaching in the Sherborn School System.

In the fall, she will teach in the Virginia Beach area. Mr Bovitz, also a 1967 alumnus of Boston College attended Michigan University before entering the Navy. He is stationed at the Naval Air Station in Oceana, Virginia, and the couple will make their home in that vicinity.

Commercial Bank & Trust votes New Stock Issue

The Commercial Bank & Trust Company of Wilmington, on July 23rd, at its semi-annual stockholders meeting, authorized the issuance of additional shares of stock for the purpose of opening their newest branch in North Reading.

There was an excellent turnout for the meeting, and the stockholders unanimously approved of the new issue.

Commercial Bank & Trust expects to open its new office in N. Reading within the next month.

The new Executive Officer, Marshall A. Tebbetts, was introduced by the president, Fred F. Cain. Mr. Tebbetts has had over 25 years of experience in all phases of banking.

Edward J. Sweeney, Vice President and Public Relations Officer for the bank, stated that because of the continued growth of the bank extensive expansion has become necessary and a new main office is to be started in Wilmington shortly.

The present plans, for North Reading, he said, call for a temporary office in a trailer, to be set up on the site of the new branch, until permanent quarters can be erected.

An Advisory Board has been appointed for North Reading, made up of a well rounded segment of the business community. The board includes:

Conservation Letter

Chairman, Board of Selectmen
Dear Sir:

Recent Hatch Act hearings have clearly indicated the need for a zoning by-law which would require that a builder or developer prepare an adequate plan for drainage and control of stagnant and running water located on the parcel of land under development before a building permit is issued and work on the project begun.

The Conservation Commission urges you to prepare and support an article for the next town meeting that would accomplish this zoning requirement.

The conservancy article which was defeated at the previous town meeting would have accomplished this need. Critics of that article pointed out that the method of defining land to be included in the proposed conservancy district was ambiguous and certain town citizens with legal training stated at the Town Meeting that it would be unenforceable and probably illegal. The zoning by-law required would simply include all land in Wilmington and no boundary difficulties would arise. The U S Government Soil Survey of Wilmington was not complete at the time and this was also given as a reason for not passing the Conservancy article. The soil survey is now complete for the entire town and will aid immeasurably in establishing suitability of a particular site for development.

It was claimed at the Town Meeting that the Hatch Act and Inland Wetlands Bills would suffice, but the former applies only after a complaint has been received and any damage done prior to the resulting Hatch Act hearing is irreparable. The Inland wetlands bill will require funding levels not likely to be readily forthcoming from a State Treasury which is already hard pressed to meet its financial obligations and is meeting increased taxpayer truculence.

Therefore, before a great deal of irreversible damage occurs to Wilmington lands as pressures for increased development continue, a suitable Zoning By-law, regulating water allocation and control prior to initiation of a particular development project is mandatory.

The Conservation Commission would be pleased to assist in preparation of such a By-Law.

Yours truly,
Wilmington Conservation Commission.

When updating the exterior of an older home, give some thought to new siding.

A wide range of materials is available with the warmth and traditional charm of wood, plus many qualities that wood lacks. Because they don't absorb moisture, they won't swell and crack paint. They aren't susceptible to mildew or rot, and they don't tempt an army of hungry termites.

Aluminum, long popular as a siding material, is better than ever. Now it's available in the familiar clapboard style, in shingles, and in wide vertical strips that stimulate plywood panels.

Update your home with supplies available at A. B. Swezey Inc., 615 Main Street, 658-2051. We will help you design and custom make your kitchen. Wandell Awarded Achievement Medal

Lance Corporal John W. Wandell of Shawshen Avenue has been awarded the Navy Achievement Medal for outstanding achievement in the superior performance of his duties in the field of leadership.

Serving in the 3rd Battalion of the 3rd Marines, in Vietnam, Wandell was a Fire Team Leader with Company M. In connection with combat operations against the enemy in the Republic of Vietnam from 27 June 1968 to 1 May 1969, Lance Corporal Wandell performed his duties in an exemplary manner. Participating in Operations Kentucky, Napoleon/Saline and Lancaster H, he repeatedly distinguished himself by his courage and composure under fire.

On 30 December 1968, while on a search and destroy mission during Operation Taylor, his unit came under a heavy volume of automatic weapons fire. Disregarding his own safety, he fearlessly exposed himself to the hostile fire in order to deliver accurate fire on the enemy positions.

Constantly concerned for the combat readiness of his unit, he tirelessly trained his men and moulded them into an effective fighting force. Lance Corporal Wandell's leadership, professional competence, and steadfast devotion to duty reflect a great credit on himself, the Marine Corps, and the Naval Service.

His promotion to Corporal was made on the Battle Field, and he has been awarded the Purple Heart, the Presidential Citation, and the Navy Citation, as well as the Navy Achievement Medal.

He returned to Wilmington last week after 13 months in Vietnam.

people, but they were not happy. Boylen motioned that the appointment to the Board of Appeals be postponed until August 11th.

The incorporation was voted for the Wilmington Regional Hospital with the approval of the Police Chief.

For the 125 Auction Hall, with Bob Auer, auctioneering for the Jimmy Fund on August 24th, a license was granted without fee.

The Election Officers were re-appointed with the exception of Helen Casey, who had tendered her resignation. Mrs Gertrude Condrey will replace her.

On August 11th at 8 pm, there will be a hearing on the storage of gasoline, 10,000 gallons, on Lot 35 of Fordham Road for Barbo.

Governor Sargent wrote that there would be no outside advertising granted without compliance with local regulations.

Bernard Flynn, asked for a liver service from 586 Main St for 2 cars, since he was denied one last week because of application being made in a residential area.

Task Forces are being formed by Kevin White and Mrs McKie, the present chairman of the Wilmington Planning Board, will be appointed to one of these.

The Conservation Commission requested an article for the Town Meeting making a developer obtain approval for a complete drainage system for the whole subdivision prior to the ok of the development.

A letter from Ralph Wallace requested permission for a small car distribution for Gildat Chevrolet on Main St.

Permission was granted to New England Tel and Tel to move a pole on Park Street.

A violation of the zoning on Mario Marlon Street was mentioned. Investigation is being made.

Town Manager Denault was in-

There is/was a bond for Alderwood Estates

Discussion at the Selectmen's meeting, Monday night, cast a doubt as to whether or not a bond exists for Alderwood Estates, Section 2, streets and sidewalk.

A bond for the sum of $12,000 was executed, on June 5, 1965, for the street and sidewalk construction of Section 2. It was for a two year period of time, and thus was scheduled to be terminated on June 5, 1967.

The bond was issued by a New York Company, and was a guarantee between the developer and a road construction firm. The Town Crier is not certain just how the Planning Board fitted, into the picture of that bond.

Whether or not the bond is still valid is a question that only the Town Counsel can determine, as far as the Town of Wilmington is concerned.

The Planning Board had been working with the developer, hoping that he would continue, but in November 1968 voted to foreclose, and so notified the Town Counsel. However, not all the necessary information seems to be in the Town structed to request removal of the old poles on West Street.

Felice Vitale asked about the legality of building on any 5000 sq ft lot. It was illegal, he was assured, even if people had owned and paid taxes for years. He asked the Chairman 'Since he was a lawyer' whether the owner could sue the Town. With a grin, Banda said that he had 'No Opinion'. Vitale then said he would tell the friend to hire a lawyer, and Banda allowed this was an excellent idea.

Antonovitch, still present, from his hearing, protested that Flynn had been operating a livery with no license. Investigation will be made.

Counsel's office.

Since 1965, the Planning Board files have been moved four times, which adds to the difficulty of its knowing just where certain items may be.

The files were in two different locations in the Town Hall (once in the cellar), then in the Town Highway Garage, and finally to the present office, in the Hiller Building, owned by the Middlesex Bank.

Brenda Johnson Bride

Miss Brenda J Johnson, daughter of Mr and Mrs Wade Johnson of 142 Grove Avenue, Wilmington, and William R Kasabuski, son of Mr and Mrs Alfred W Kasabuski, of 5 Latte Road, Wilmington, were united in marriage in a lovely double ring ceremony on July 5th at St. Dorothy's Church. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. Fr. Joseph Leahy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of Alencon lace, with a matching veil. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of white chrysanthemums trimmed with a very wide band of lace and streamers.

The altar was decorated with bouquets of white chrysanthemums and music during the ceremony was by Mr William Noll, the church organist.

Miss Dale Johnson was her sister's only attendant, wearing a light green silk dress with an orchid corsage.

Mr Michael Kasabuski served as best man for his brother.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs Johnson chose a pink linen suit trimmed with white, and with white accessories. Mrs Kasabuski wore a sheer pink and white dress with bone accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Wilmington High School, Class of 1969 and is presently a student at Solar School of Hair Design in Lowell, and is employed at Simon's store in Wilmington.

Mr Kasabuski is a graduate of Wilmington High School, Class of 1965, and attended Northern Essex. He is employed at the Boston Naval Shipyard.

Following a reception and a garden party at the home of the groom's parents, the couple left for a honeymoon in Maine. They are now at home on Hobson Avenue Wilmington.

Barn Sale raised $2700

Wilmington's first Barn Sale to raise funds for the Wilmington Regional Hospital Building Fund was labeled a huge success by Mrs Maurice D O'Neil, Chairman, who reported receipts totaling $2700 with funds still coming in.

Held on Thursday at the site of the new hospital on Lowell Street, the event attracted almost 1000 residents of the Wilmington area who took advantage of the bright sunshine to purchase the entire supply of white elephant donations contributed by local residents.

Fred F Cain acted as host for the sale which opened at 10 am and Rev H Allen Tadgell Jr gave the invocation. James Banda, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen operated the Public Address System and George Boylen, Wavie Drew, Bruce MacDonald, and Jas R Miceli, the Board of Selectmen were also present.

Mrs Lillian Woodside donated balloons which a volunteer corps of children sold throughout the day. Two Wilmington teenagers Karen Helm and Debbie Inman brought their pony and sold rides to the children. The Swordsmen of the Crusaders Drum Corps played.

Furniture, lamps, paintings, and jewelry, new and used clothing and bric-a-brac were purchased by enthusiastic buyers.

The Police Department had officers on hand to direct traffic and George Cushing, of the Fire Department provided lights to illuminate the site.

Letters of support were received from Governor Sargent, Senator Brooke, and State Attorney General Quinn.

What began as a small White Elephant sale in the backyard of Mrs O'Neil turned out to be a real outpouring of community support for the hospital, and they are most proud of the civic spirit shown by the Town.

The Committee would also like to extend its thanks to all of the Town agencies and department employees who contributed their time and effort to our project.
